BATTLE IN CUBA.

American Cavalry Attack Superior Force of Spanish Troops.

Thirteen Killed and Over Fifty Injured—
Spaniards Driven Back.

(Special to the Herald)

PLAYA DEL ESTE, June 24, 8:00 P. M.—There was a severe engagement this morning, five miles from Santiago, in which less than 1000 American cavalrymen and rough riders were engaged with more than 2000 Spaniards in the thicket, finally driving them into the bay. The American loss is twelve or thirteen killed and about fifty wounded, including six officers. Several of the wounded will die. Twelve Spaniards were found dead in the brush, and their loss was probably much greater. The Spanish had a greater advantage in numbers and position. Among the dead are: Capt. H. H. Caffron of troop L, rough riders; Sergt. Hamilton Fish, Jr., troop L, rough riders; Privates Tilman and Dawson, troop L, rough riders; Privates Dougherty, and W. T. Irwin, fough riders; Privates Dix, York, C. DeJorck, E. Tolbo, Perlin, and Lenneck, third cavalry; Corporal White of the tenth cavalry. Gen. Young commanded the expedition and was with the regulars, while Col. Wood directed the operations of the rough riders some miles west. The expedition consisted of four troops of first cavalry, four troops of tenth cavalry, and eight troops of Roosevelt's rough riders. Both parties attacked the Spaniards at once and the fight lasted one hour, the Spaniards finally taking to their heels and scattering over the mountains. The cavalry was afterward reinforced by the seventh, twelfth, and seventeenth infantry, part of the tenth cavalry, the Second Massachusetts and the Seventh First New York. The Americans now hold the positions at the threshold of Santiago, with four troops going forward constantly, and they have the bearings of a final assault upon the city. It is probable that at least ten of the wounded will die.

Summer Change of Time on the Boston and Maine

The general change of time on the Boston and Maine railroad will take place on June 27th, and many important changes will take effect.

On the Eastern division the service to Marblehead and Gloucester is the same as last season, while on the York Harbor and Beach the service between Portsmouth and the Harbor is practically hourly. Sunday trains leave at convenient hours over this branch, the running of Sunday time being a new departure.

The mountain trains over the Eastern division leave Boston at 9:40 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. The 3:30 p. m. train will run through to Wolfeboro, and the 3:15 p. m. train is a York beach train stopping only at Hamilton and Wrentham, Newburyport, Hampton, North Hampton and Portsmouth.

The Portland trains in the evening for down cast points will leave Boston at 7:00 and 9:45 p. m., the Bar Harbor sleeper being the last mentioned.

On the Western division quite a few changes have been made, the time on the through trains having been shortened.

The usual summer trains from Portland to Old Orchard, Biddeford have been put on both week days and Sundays. The York Beach train from Lowell will run on the same time as last year. Sunday Boston trains from Portland have been re arranged in the latter part of the day so that expresses will leave at 5:00 and 5:30 p. m., and a late train for Boston will leave Haverhill Sunday night at 8:45 p. m. The 8:00 a. m., Sunday morning train from Boston will run through to Exeter, and the usual Sunday service will be in effect between Lawrence and Newburyport. The down east train will leave Boston at 8:00 a. m. week days, and the Portland train will leave Boston at 1:15 p. m., instead of 1:00 p. m.

The Southern division trains are run practically as last season to the White Mountains and Canadian points. On the Central Massachusetts railroad trains have been added between Boston and Hudson, Mass.

FROM CHICKAMAUGA

Case of Measles Show Up and Patient Promptly Isolated

CHICKAMAUGA NATIONAL PARK, Ga., June 24.—A case of measles was discovered in camp this afternoon, and tonight the patient, Private George Whipple of the Lebanon company was removed to a tent pitched especially for him on the hill, in the rear of the camp. Special nurses have been detailed by Colonel Rolfe and Surgeon Greeley to take care of the young man. It is believed by thus isolating the regiment's only measles case, the disease would be stamped out.

Aldrich of Keens and Cronin of Dover, at the division hospital, are reported to be more comfortable.

It was an ideal day. Colonel Rolfe was advised by wire today of the start of parties of recruits from Concord and Manchester.

Adjutant George F. D. Waldron was thrown from a horse, this forenoon, while on his way to division headquarters, but miraculously escaped serious injury. A bruised ankle will keep him off the horse for a day or two, and Lieut. C. A. Poff is acting adjutant.

A Delightful Day

The members of DeWitt Clinton Commandery Knights Templars, and their invited guests, returned from their annual St. John's day outing, which this year was passed at Center Harbor, on a special train arriving here about half past nine on Friday evening.

The members report a delightful time, the ladies especially being highly pleased and thoroughly enjoyed the day.

The sail up over the lake was most pleasant, the time and weather for such an excursion being perfect.

At Center Harbor a ball game between two nines captained by G. Fred Dren and Jack Newell furnished some lively sport for the party and ended in the defeat of Jack Newell's team. The score has not been figured out yet but it is expected that it will be ready to be made public about the middle of next week.

Col. Walter Page umpired the game and barring having to fine one or two of the players gave perfect satisfaction. On their return to this city most of the members and their guests attended the fifteenth anniversary of St. Andrew's lodge which was held in Masonic hall.

A Scotchman was once advised to take shower baths. A friend explained to him how to take one by the use of a cistern and colander, and Sandy accordingly set to work and had the thing done at once. Subsequently he was met by the friend who had given him the advice, and, being asked how he enjoyed the bath, "Man," said he, "it was fine! I liked it real well, and I kept my eye! quite dry too." Being asked how he managed to take the shower and yet remain quite dry, he replied, "Dod, ye dinna surely think I was sae daft as stand below the water without an umbrella!"—London Answers.

SATURDAY JUNE 25, 1899.

The Michigan Fusionists have nominated a woman for superintendent of public instruction. Here is an appeal to the gallantry of the voters which is likely to count something.

The party which nominates the more Hobsons and Deweyes for office this fall is likely to fare the better at the polls. There is something in a name, the old adage to the contrary, notwithstanding.

The Hong-Kong press suggests that the American seize a Chinese port. We are able to reply that the European game of grab has not yet become popular with us; but there is nothing what we may yet come to.

If the Guantanamo cable is to be reopened for commercial messages, it is to be hoped that the censor will not pass any "Mother is dead" dispatches between Cuba and Spain. There is such a thing as a cipher that looks plain but is not, and Spaniards have been clever enough to attempt to use it, even through Key West.

The other day it was stated that the Chinese Emperor was about to move from Peking to Se-Gan-Fu, the capital of the province of Shan-Si, and make the latter his home and seat of government. Se-Gan-Fu is, after Peking, the most important city in Northern China. It was for more than a thousand years the capital of the empire, before the Manchu conquest, and today it is the military center of eighteen provinces, and has more than a million inhabitants. It lies more than five hundred miles from any point that can be reached by a battleship, and thus would afford greater security than Peking. The report about it is not yet confirmed but it is intrinsically by no means improbable.

MR. BRYAN'S FLIP-FLOP.

Mr. Bryan's speech at Omaha, says the report of it, was "notable for one thing—his first public declaration on the war issue. He took a high ground on the question, urging that the war was for humanity, and not to extend United States territory." It was notable for another thing—Mr. Bryan's lightning change from ultra-radicalism to ultra-conservatism. It is needless to show how completely Mr. Bryan's latest pose antagonizes the present administration and the best thought of the republican party; and we are much mistaken if he has not, at the same time, set himself against the prevailing sentiment in his own party, or parties. He has transferred his text and colors and his cross of gold to a section of "the enemy's country," in which the enemy, in part at least, are arrayed against a national policy that the republican party will be found championing. If Mr. Bryan continues on his reckless career he will find himself neither flesh nor fowl, nor even a decent grade of red herring.

WAR NEWS! A Battle Fought Near Santiago.

Thirteen Americans Killed And Fifty Wounded.

THE SPANISH LOSS WAS TWELVE KILLED AND MANY WOUNDED.

THE AMERICAN ARMY NOW HOLDS A COMMANDING POSITION.

Associated Press Gave the First News.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The Associated Press is assured that up to one o'clock this morning the administration had no advice of yesterday's battle, near Santiago de Cuba. The first news of the engagement received at the White house was the Associated Press despatch.

For Spectacular Effect.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—That the Spanish Cadiz fleet is proceeding eastward, cannot longer be doubted here. Trusted agents of the government, stationed at Mediterranean ports, are closely watching every movement of Spanish ships, and when word came today that Camara's squadron was sighted off Puntallana bay before yesterday, officials accept the statement beyond question. At the rate the Spanish was sailing it should reach Port Said, the entrance to the Suez canal, by Monday or Tuesday next. Beyond that point it is not believed the Spanish squadron will go, as the movement is believed to be for spectacular effect only. There is a question whether the canal authorities will allow the heavy armored Spanish ships to risk a passage through the canal, even if Admiral Camara is willing to undertake it.

Lieut. Hobson and Men Safe and Well.

OFF SANTIAGO DE CUBA, June 24, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 24.—This morning a flag of truce was taken to the entrance of Santiago harbor to ascertain the whereabouts of the Merrimack prisoners. A Spanish boat came out and Captain Correas stated that Lieut. Hobson and his men were confined in the city of Santiago and that they were all well. The captain said he felt sorry that they could not be given their liberty, but the authorities thought it inadvisable.

To Reinforce Gen. Shafter.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The Ninth Massachusetts, and two battalions of twenty-fourth Michigan, broke camp this evening and proceeded to Alexandria by rail, whence they will take steamer for Newport News, and thence embark for Santiago de Cuba to reinforce Gen. Shafter's army.

Madrid Hears of a Battle.

MADRID, June 25.—It is asserted that the government has received a despatch from Cuba today that a battle has occurred near Santiago on sea and land.

No Cheers For The Throne.

MADRID, June 24.—The cortes adjourned tonight amid great excitement and without the customary cheers for the throne.

Queen Dissolves Cortes.

MADRID, June 24.—The Queen Regent has signed the decree suspending the Cortes.

Manila Expedition Heard From.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—Steamer Fern arrived this afternoon from the Orient by way of Honolulu and reports having spoken the second Manila expedition June 20th, moving rapidly toward Honolulu. All were well on board the troopship and wished to be so reported.

Spanish Sentries to be Bombarded.

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

What Squirrels Eat.
Squirrels do not entirely subsist on nuts, as most people suppose. They are largely fruit eaters, and occasionally work big havoc in the orchards at the fall of the year. They are not above stealing partridge eggs, and on this account are not beloved by the sportsman. Even poultry, when they stray, as they often will, and lay eggs beyond the confines of the poultry yard, suffer from attacks of squirrels when the mother bird is away. In pine tree districts these little climbers are fond of splitting the pine cones and eating the seeds thereof.

But above all things squirrels are fond of fungus. They will not leave anything to my to the common or garden mushroom, but occasionally devour the most pellow and poisonous looking of toadstools that grow in damp woods and fields. They never store them, for they know well that fungi will not keep. They devour them greedily as they come to light and revisit the spot as soon as fresh spawn appears the fungus. There are, however, many kinds of toadstools that squirrels know to be poisonous, and these they will not touch.—Detroit Free Press.

LASSING A PANTHER

HOW A HUNTING PARTY IN TEXAS FOUND A QUEER PET.

A Ferocious Animal Captured in Cowboy Fashion—How a Daring Negro Got One of the Cubs—The Mother and Her Children in Captivity.

Those who conclude that there are no ferocious or dangerous wild animals in the mountains of western Texas would experience a very sudden change of sentiment if they should meet a panther face to face in some lonely canyon. The magnificent animal now chained in front of our wagons is called by some a Mexican or mountain lion and by others a panther. She is of a dull yellowish color and will weigh more than four or five ordinary leopards. She measures just 11 feet from the tip of her nose to the end of her long tail.

Although she has been in captivity only a few days she is astonishingly docile so long as she can see her two cubs that are chained under the wagon. The moment they set up a whine she springs to her feet, all her hair turns the wrong way, and while her eyes look like glowing coals of fire she quashes her sharp white fangs and tries the strength of her chain. If it were not strong enough to hold an ox, I should prefer that there were two or three counties between us just at that particular moment. The cubs are already as gentle as lambs and as playful as kittens, and nothing pleases them better than to crawl under our blankets at night and cuddle up close to us to escape the chilly nothings.

We captured her in the mountains of the Dell river in western Texas, and I doubt if a more daring feat was ever accomplished by a crowd of hunters. Game of all kinds is very abundant in this region, and the boys had tired of shooting deer, antelope and turkeys. Several big wolves and two or three panthers had been slaughtered, and it was evident from the numerous tracks about the water holes that there were plenty more of them in the mountains. One evening the hounds struck a hot trail and ran a big panther into a cave on the side of a mountain.

That night while discussing the adventures incident to the day's hunt two daring young men, Petmaker and Black, declared that they intended to hang a noose over the mouth of the animal's den on the next day and capture her alive. Both are Texas roared boys and experienced hunters. The proposition met with unanimous approval, and all volunteered to assist in the desperate undertaking. The next day as we rode out of camp some of the boys grew bolder, and two of them, who were expert vaqueros, declared that they intended to rope the beast if they could get close enough to her. Those two—young Petmaker of Menard county and George Black of Austin—rode toward the den, and the other members of the party and negro Jim, who had charge of the hounds, started to beat up the valley.

We had gone but a short distance before the dogs struck a hot trail and ran with yelp which indicated that they were close to the animal. Petmaker and Black heard them coming and reined in their ponies on the edge of a little opening and unslung their pike poles from the horns of their saddles. The big animal sprang out of the brush and stopped within 20 feet of Petmaker. The cowboy's lariat flashed through the air and landed right around the wild animal's neck.

The instant it touched her she screamed like a tormented stricken woman and, leaping high in the air and gnashing her teeth, began to decrease the space between her and the daredevil at the other end of the rope. Black, who was too far away to co-operate with his comrade at first, was now on the field, and with lucky precision he hurled a second noose over the animal's head. Both wheeled their ponies, and the trained animals made a leap in opposite directions. The ropes were drawn taut, and the big monster was choked to the gills.

While she was rolling on the grass and clawing at the noose another expert with the rope galloped and caught one of her hind feet. They could now easily hold her at a safe distance from each other, and after much excitement and many rather dangerous stratagems they succeeded in dragging her to a good camping place not far away. Since at that stage of her captivity we could not move her to the wagons, we moved the wagons to her, and, putting a good chain around her neck, we made her fast to a tree.

Some of the hounds were set baying at the cave, and one of the boys and the negro Jim went over there to call them off. An old dog ran into the den and came out yelping with a young jaguar about the size of a house cat hanging to his hide. They captured the cub, and then the negro crawled into the den and brought out another—a thing that I would not have done for a deed to Texas.

The cubs soon made friends with us and were ready to eat from our hands or crawl upon our knees in a few days. When the mother saw her children in captivity, she set up an awful roar, but when they were put down by her side she seemed to be very grateful and soon afterward made a hearty meal of a large piece of venison that was thrown to her. After a few days she seemed to become perfectly reconciled to the new order of things and is now on the look-out for something to eat. Negro Jim sets her on the back and leads her about like a lamb. The hounds have made friends with her, and nothing pleases her better than for our bird dog to play with her. She could easily throttle the largest bull on the plains and toss a man about as a cat does a mouse. We have named her Miss Vixen.—Cor. St. Louis Dispatch.

CLASS RECEPTION.

Brilliant Society Event in Philbrick Hall Last Evening.

From the Balconies the Scene Was One of the Greatest Splendor.

The reception of the graduating class was held in Philbrick hall in the evening, and it was no discredit to the former classes to say that it was the prettiest ever held. In truth, it was one of the prettiest parties ever held in Portsmouth. The size of the class, the costumes of the ladies and the magnificent decorations of the hall, all contributing to the splendid effect. The hall presented a very beautiful scene, the decorations being of the most elaborate and costly description.

The class colors, blue and white, were used exclusively, especially in the electrical display, which, under the superintendence of Electrician E. O. Sessions, transformed the vast apartment to a scene from fairyland. Vases of cut flowers, potted plants and palms were tastefully arranged around the hall, while above and beyond all were the decorations about and above the stage at the farther end of the hall.

Here, indeed, were the skillful efforts of Mr. Sessions apparent. Close to the ceiling, over the rear of the stage, was a large electrical piece with the words, "Portsmouth High School," in tiny green and white electric light bulbs, and directly underneath, in the shape of an arch, was the class motto, "Facta Non Verba," also of electric lights. Across the base of the arch, which gave a finish to the display, were the words, "Class of '98."

The front of the stage was one bank of potted plants and flowers, and the effect when the hall was lighted was very striking and pretty.

The "Welcome" inscription in colored lights in the rear of the hall also attracted much attention. Eastman's orchestra, augmented by several musicians from out of town, furnished the music for the dancing, and began the festivities of the evening with an excellent concert, which was much enjoyed by its auditors.

By nine o'clock, the time set for the hall to open and the dancing to commence, the hall was crowded to the doors.

Most of the dancers were young men and maidens, while the more elderly ladies and gentlemen, parents and relatives of the graduates, watched the festivities from the gallery above. It was a scene long to be remembered.

The happy, smiling faces of the young people, with the beautiful costumes of the young ladies, evoked many a compliment from the onlookers. The order of dances was the neatest design ever seen in this city and will be kept as a dainty souvenir of this most auspicious occasion.

The following was the list of dances:
1. Promenade and Waltz. Sousa
2. Two Step, "Bride Elect." Arr. by Tracy
3. Waltz, "Jack." Metz

At intermission light refreshments were served in the banquet hall, Mr. Ralph Green catering. It was long after midnight before the last dance was over, but the class of '98 and their friends will long remember the happy occasion.

The officers and reception committee discharged their duties gracefully, and were as follows:

The costumes of the ladies were very beautiful and merited a more detailed mention than could be made with the time and space at our disposal, but it suffices to say that no more charming toilettes could well be imagined than were worn by some of the young ladies, whose youth and beauty were no conspicuous on this occasion.

NOTES.

Electrician Sessions is a wonder when it comes to electrical effects. Assistant Marshal Frank H. West gracefully officiated at the door.

A better day could not have been picked out, and "Old Sol" beamed kindly on the graduates.

The officers of the floor handled the large crowd admirably, and not a hitch marred the pleasure of the evening.

Principal Bartlett should well feel proud of so accomplished and efficient a class as the graduating class of 1898. The electrical effects harmonized charmingly with the decoration and excited the wonder and admiration of all.

The galleries were packed to the doors at the reception, by an eager crowd of people, who were fairly delighted with the lovely scene on the floor.

Principal John H. Bartlett was congratulated on every hand. The entire program from the music hall exercises to the reception showed his careful supervision.

Joseph Foster Jr. is entitled to much praise for his success in handling the large crowds on the floor.
The officers of the navy in uniform added splendor to the occasion.
It was a gathering of the youth and beauty of Portsmouth.
Supt. of Schools J. C. Simpson took much interest in the entire affair and was given a hearty welcome by the members of the class at the reception.

Several of the local tobacco dealers have been caught with over 1000 pounds dated since April 14, which makes them liable to assessment on old stock on hand. Others managed to swap different brands and grades with one another so as to get under the limit.

Tobacco drummers have been numerous about the city this week trying to work off the old sizes in plug packages. Manufacturers have suspended work on those sizes, agreeably to the new law, but stocks on hand are sufficient to take care of consumption until new machinery can be provided.

A Good Investment

Small investors should remember that subscribers for the new issue of American bonds, below the sum of $500 to any subscription, have the right of way until July 14, as against the bankers. These bonds bear 3 per cent interest, are non-taxable and are guaranteed by the government. Unless the United States as a nation goes to the "demolition bowwows" the investment is gilt-edged and subscriptions are taken as low as $20. Moreover, the government asks only "par" for its bonds. All American bonds having any considerable period yet to run are worth from 115 to 123, which indicates a premium of $15 to $23 on every $100 invested. Now there isn't the slightest reason why the present issue of bonds will not go to a premium of 115 within two years—so that if the small investor desires to make a little speculation and get 3 per cent interest, without taxation, here will be his opportunity.
